Accident or incident Summary

On August 5, 2022, at approximately 20:14 (8:14 PM), a motor vehicle collision occurred when another vehicle crossed the centerline and struck the patient's vehicle on the driver's side [26][27][28]. The patient, who was driving and restrained at the time, experienced a T-bone impact that did not trigger airbag deployment and did not result in loss of consciousness [26][28]. Following the collision, the patient suffered left shoulder pain and restricted movement, and was subsequently transported by ambulance to Jack Hughston Memorial Hospital [27][29][28][30]. The primary cause of the accident was attributed to the other unidentified driver crossing the centerline and colliding with the patient's vehicle [28].

Location of the accident or incident

The location of the accident/incident is not specified.[20][3][2][5][15][6][30][11][7][31]

No traffic citation was mentioned in the file.[3][20][5][7][33][11][30][19][21][34]

Potential Disputes

1. Accident Circumstances: Dispute regarding the exact details of vehicle collision. The claimant states that someone crossed the centerline and struck his vehicle [28]. No clear opposing version has been provided. Supporting evidence includes no conclusive documentation. The lack of a detailed opposing narrative and absence of definitive supporting evidence creates uncertainty about the precise collision circumstances.
2. Injuries: Dispute concerning the severity and extent of left shoulder injury. The claimant reports severe shoulder pain [28][36], decreased range of motion [36][30], inability to abduct shoulder past 90 degrees without severe pain [30], and pain disrupting sleep [36]. Medical assessments reveal X-rays showed no acute fractures [28][37], with an initial diagnosis of acute left shoulder pain [38][39]. The discrepancy exists between the claimant's reported severe symptoms and the medical imaging findings, which do not indicate structural damage.
3. Documentational Inconsistencies: Dispute involving patient age and accident date variations. Patient age is inconsistently documented as 36 [29][36][30] and 37 [26]. Additionally, the accident date shows discrepancies, with an emergency room visit recorded on 08/05/2022 [29], while physical therapy notes reference an accident around June 1, 2022 [26]. These variations suggest potential documentation errors or confusion about precise incident details.

Fault accepted, acknowledged, admitted or probable

Insurance company's position:

No official statement was found where the insurance company admitted, acknowledged, or accepted fault. The insurer's liability position is not stated in available documents.

Third Party Position:

The accident involved a collision where another vehicle crossed the centerline. The patient was the driver, restrained, with no airbag deployment. The accident occurred on August 5, and an ambulance was called. X-rays revealed no acute fractures. A signature and insurance request form suggests potential third-party liability insurance involvement.[17][18][7][4][5][39][11][30][33][2]

Prior Demands/Offers

Settlement Negotiation History:

No Prior Negotiations Identified:

1. Initial Demand: Charles E. Floyd III sent a demand letter to Mr. Jr. Jung at Alfa Insurance requesting a "highest and best lump-sum settlement offer" [65]

Additional Context:

- No specific details about previous settlement offers were found
- Documents include medical transaction records and insurance claims [65]
- The demand letter appears to be the first communication regarding settlement

Conclusion: Insufficient information exists to construct a comprehensive negotiation history.

Most Recent Demands/Offers

No specific settlement offer or demand could be identified. While a letter from Charles E. Floyd III to Mr. Jr. Jung at Alfa Insurance requested a "highest and best lump-sum settlement offer" [65], the document lacks details about a concrete settlement amount, date, or specific terms. The text appears to be a request for an expense summary review rather than a definitive settlement proposal.
